VITAE ARTICHOKE

100% NATURAL JUICE

500ml

40807

100% artichoke leaf juice, which contributes to the proper functioning of the body. Artichoke has a strong protective effect on liver flesh and improves the function of the gall bladder. Due to increasing bile secretion, it improves digestion and accelerates liver regeneration. The most valuable substance that artichoke contains is cynarin. In addition, it contains malic acid, lactic acid, flavonoids, sterols, tannins, B vitamins and vitamin A, to which it owes its healing effects. The supplement provides support for the liver in case of indigestion. A huge advantage of artichoke, especially for diabetics, is its ability to regulate blood glucose levels. The antioxidants in the juice protect liver cells from damage. Artichoke also lowers cholesterol, relieves nausea, abdominal pain and bloating, acts as a windbreaker, removes fatty acids from the blood, cleanses and detoxifies the body.

Artichoke also has an effective weight loss effect. Not only because it is a low-calorie vegetable. Also, the composition of ingredients that accelerate metabolism promotes fat burning and weight loss. Inulin, acting similarly to fiber, helps keep you feeling satiated longer. Niacin, also known as vitamin PP or B3, in turn accelerates the processes of fatty acid and carbohydrate metabolism.

Recommended intake: 20 ml daily, half an hour before a meal. Liquid ready for direct consumption. Do not exceed the recommended daily serving.

The active ingredients in noni stimulate the secretion of digestive juices and increase appetite.

There are many valuable substances to humans in the composition of noni fruit. From the vitamins, we find first of all vitamin C and niacin (vitamin B3). In addition to vitamins, we can also find significant amounts of iron and potassium. Noni also shows positive effects in cases of inflammation, or bacterial infections, such as in the mouth, as well as gastrointestinal infections, diarrhea and the like.

- ANALGESIC
- ANTI-INFLAMMATORY
- FOR SKIN PROBLEMS, ALLERGIES, PSORIASIS
- FOR THE TREATMENT OF RHEUMATISM
- FOR PROBLEMS OF THE CARDIOVASCULAR SYSTEM

This is believed to be due to the fruit's iridoid content, which also has antioxidant properties. These tropical fruits are not a panacea, but their stimulating and immune-boosting effects make it worth reaching for their juice. Among a number of studies, it has been found that noni fruits can have a beneficial effect on reducing the level of „bad“ LDL cholesterol. This is combined with its vitamin C content, which supports the cardiovascular system. Vitamin C contributes to maintaining normal energy metabolism. It also acts as an antioxidant - protecting cells from oxidative stress.

Juice extracted from noni fruit is characterized by its original, dry taste and aroma. It is an excellent addition to the daily diet for people who care about their health.

The dietary supplement is not recommended for pregnant and breastfeeding women, as well as people suffering from liver disease and hypertension.

Omega-9 fatty acids do not lower good cholesterol, but they do lower bad cholesterol and total cholesterol. They help keep the heart healthy, protect against cancer and support normal blood pressure.
